On 15 March, the second flagship TARGET GENDER EQUALITY LIVE attracted more than 3,200 leaders across over 1,700 organizations from 124 countries to discuss the actions that can be taken to advance gender equality. The event specifically discussed the range of interconnected emergencies the world continues to face — from the COVID-19 pandemic, to the climate crisis, to rising inequalities, humanitarian disasters and financial instability and how gender equality is both central to the challenge — with women and girls bearing the brunt of global crises — and an essential solution with the power to transform economies, countries, and communities to achieve sustainable development. Watch the sessions »

The event also kicked off the third round of Target Gender Equality now open to join in over 50 participating countries! Apply today »

TOP NEWS

The Women's Empowerment and Business 2022 Trends and Opportunities report examines trends from the aggregate data from the WEPs Gender Gap Analysis Tool. The report finds that while some progress has been made on advancing gender equality across regions and across issues, there is a need for more accelerated, impactful action across the board. Read the report »
